

Keld Stehr Nielsen

Extensive project, product and IT leadership experience from 11 years in the financial services industry and 3 years in consultancy. Recently, I focused on business and product development in blockchain and fintech, following trends in digital transformation closely and bringing new digital possibilities to established industry players. I have a master in philosophy and mathematics, and a PhD in behavioral and brain science.